

CAMDEN

Incredible photographs taken by Macarthur CC Photography Exhibition Group members David Kelleher (left), Kelly Green and Silvia Grimm, all taken in Camden.

Region captured on film

Tarik Elmerhebe

SNAPSHOT OF THE CAMDEN AREA'S BEAUTY

TALENT ON SHOW

CAMDEN'S beautiful scenery and infrastructure have been captured on film and are now on display.

Until August 30, Macarthur CC Photography Exhibition Group is hosting a print exhibition and slide show at Narellan Library featuring images taken around Camden featuring the theme "living culture".

Group co-ordinator Debra

Pearson formed the group in 2009, and this year sees its 12 members presenting their fourth annual exhibition.

"The aim of the group is to give enthusiastic students an opportunity to grow their talents and show their work," Mrs Pearson said.

"The group is limited in size but welcomes a small number of new student members each year. We are an active group and committed to sharing these opportunities and keeping our ideas and motivations fresh."

Mrs Pearson said the group had taught members a great deal.

"Although all members begin as amateurs, several of our past members have gone on to become professional photographers," she said.

The group will present another exhibition in November at Campbelltown Library.

For details on the exhibition, phone Narellan Library on 4645 5039. For more details about the group, visit macphotogroup.org.

WHAT: Photography exhibition featuring images from the Camden area
WHO: Macarthur CC Photography Exhibition Group
WHEN: Until Saturday, August 30
WHERE: Narellan Library, Elyard St, Narellan
DETAILS: Contact library on 4645 5039 or visit macphotogroup.org